

Contents

Summary	iii
Introduction	1
Measuring Hamburger Cooking and Ordering Behavior	3
The 1996 Hamburger and Egg Consumption Diary and Hamburger Preparation Quiz	3
Measuring Hamburger Doneness	3
Results	4
Modeling the Effect of Attitudes on Usual Cooking and Ordering	7
Conceptual Framework for the Role of Risk and Taste	7
Empirical Specification and Estimation	7
The Roles of Palatability Motivation and Risk Motivation	11
The Role of Information	12
The Role of Demographic Characteristics	15
Recent Changes in Behavior	16
Reasons for Change	16
Food Safety Awareness	17
Estimating the Reduction in Illness and Medical Costs from Changes in Behavior	19
Conclusions	23
References	25
Appendix A. An Economic Model of Risk and Palatability in Doneness Choice	27
Appendix B. Estimation of the Model of Usual Doneness	28